

SISTER DEBORIAH STANDS UP FOR POSITIVE POLYGAMY!

I understand the concepts of why an Honorable-Spiritual man would have to take on multiple wives. The ultimate goal is to bring back Yah's people and restore His Nation. The most important piece to it all is to esteem the Most High and give honor to him.

I am a married woman who have most recently come into the knowledge and understanding of "Polygamy" and seeing it as being a necessity within our community, for our people. I have considered this option with my own husband, but I have found that through this test, I failed. I am still somewhat insecure and jealous over my husband. Mainly because of the fear that men tend to walk in their lusts and in their flesh instead of always taking the spiritual approach. That leaves a bad taste in my mouth.

However, I still believe that day must come when our men must rise up as the Lions that they are called to be and lead our people back to the Most High in RIGHTEOUSNESS. My insecurity is something that the Most High is cleansing me out of – Malachai 3:3.

I know speaking as a woman who truly wants to serve the Most High, I have failed by looking to my man who doesn't have all the answers....so I fault him for his trials and errors....Wrong answer ladies...I am convicted by this. However, I know who he is trying to serve. I have faith that the Father will build us up to where we need to be. We are being refined.

It's not time for our men to be pimps simply cause they think they got it like that, but hopefully our men see that there is truly a spiritual purpose and sincere need for our people; LET IT BE DONE RIGHTEOUSLY. Another problem is that we have to renew our minds and break away from these 'GENTILE' ways. We are literally out of our mindset...part of our curses, so it is a struggle learning who we are supposed to be. The Word of Yah will correct that. It's not totally clear on how polygamy should be handled. This day and age, men in America really would have a much bigger burden in trying to treat all of his wives equally, because of the curses set against them. They barely can care for one family let alone 2, 3 or even 4. The women today would have to be in a lot of prayer and meditation regarding this subject, in order to unite in righteousness.

With that said, I do believe that in Yah's time, the Most High will mold His people into one synchronous motion towards fulfilling and completing HIS WILL of bringing together this knowledge and understanding of the particular subject at hand.

This is something that would have to be done in righteousness and His will only.

Forcing it today would not work unless all are in one agreement and in synch spiritually. That is very rare... the majority of the women out there are not on the same page with this understanding, and if this is not handled properly it can actually destroy the family more than it can help it.

I think that if the women are spiritually grounded and have ONE mind and understanding for its purpose and regarding its need...truly serving the Most High to rebuild our people and our nation, then they will automatically possess the RESPECT and understanding that is required to come with this type of situation towards the other women in the home...this is regarding women in AMERICA. Not sure about anywhere else.

When done in the Most High's will, it will be done in a peaceful manner and everyone will have that understanding and respect that must come with that. This action is not for everyone, but I read ISAIAH 4:1-2 and it was a hard pill for me to swallow, and it still chokes me up around the lung area from time to time. But nonetheless, it is HIS WORD... This is prophetic. Not all the time where the prophets directed to do things that they liked. Look at Ezekiel who was commanded to eat over some human DUNG...and I struggle with my insecurity. One would think accepting another woman into our life would be a piece of cake, what's the problem, right?

Pride....However, I do feel that in the time of distress to come, people will begin to see things in a different light and begin to pull together as a nation. It's inevitable. Of course, those who choose to serve the Most High in Spirit and in Truth are the ones who will serve HIM in righteousness and pull together in this need. Verse 2 is most important, that in that day, it will be comely and esteemed to the Most High, Yah.

Our people are starting to wake up and see that this is needed. As women, I must say I possess jealousy like no other, but I see that the Most High is molding me. I choose to serve Him in spirit and in truth. I pray that one day he will take that jealousy completely away from me so that I can totally serve Him. Right now, I have to work on my insecurity issues within my own self....scars from the past.

I want to serve my Father and be pleasing in His eyes. I want to be that virtuous woman and be that strong servant that HE needs. Because that is what it's going to take to pull us together as a people/nation again, here in America.

I am not there yet...haven't met my mark, but I am praying to get there. Surely, in today's world, it would make it much easier to deal with other women who are on the same page as me spiritually and have the same understanding. There is no time for women who are about nonsense and competition. A real honorable man would see that that is not healthy for the family as a whole.

An extended family is just what it is 'FAMILY'. Can we all just get along?

As was mentioned earlier, not many women today are willing to humble themselves for this type of situation. Too many independent women and want to be "Beyoncé's".....Again that is why I believe it will have to be done in the Most High's time and in His will. He will move this nation to pull together eventually. We have a time of distress coming to our people..."Jacob's Trouble".....so right now it's time to prepare.

I got a little winded, but overall, our brothers will have to eventually step up to the plate in spiritual righteousness which will include taking on additional wives and leading this nation back to Yah. Our children are suffering, many of are men and women are so lost. Something is about to take place.

Us women who are being called, so we might as well get ready for this, because it is to come. I personally wish there were more women out there to discuss this subject with on a spiritual level because it will help us grow in understanding together.
